University Proposes Faculty Camp Plan

The University administration has proposed a low-cost vacation plan for faculty and staff members of the University.

Announcement of this offer was made yesterday by the Comptroller's Office. Under the proposal, staff and faculty members could use facilities at the 4-H Camp in Washington County for one week following the close of the Summer Session.

The camp, which has been operated by the University for several years, is located in a deeply shaded area of about 15 acres on Chaplin River, on the site of the old Tatum Springs Health Resort. This hotel building has approximately 40 rooms and sleeping accommodations for about 150 persons.

Plans for this camp have been made with the co-operation of J. W. Whitehouse, state leader of 4-H Club work, and Dean Frank J. Welch.

A new swimming pool, a gift from Barry Bingham of Louisville, was completed and put into use this summer. Facilities are also included for softball, volley ball, horseshoes, shuffleboard, bridge and hiking.

According to the announcement, a life guard will be on duty at the pool throughout the day, and a member of the Physical Education staff will serve as director of recreation.

Rates for the camp, which will pay for kitchen and dining room help and for three meals a day, follow:

Adults and children, 12 or older, $15 a week (7 days); children under 12, $10 a week (7 days).

Plans for the affair will be continued only if sufficient interest is shown. An application is being carried in this week's Staff Bulletin, distributed today, and further information may be obtained from the Office of the Comptroller, which will co-ordinate the program temporarily.

Actual dates of the proposed camp are August 14 through August 21. The 4-H Club Camp may be reached via Route 62, between Lawrenceburg and Bardstown, and it is about an hour's drive from Lexington.

UK Student Is Recovering After Mishap

Daniel A. Kelly, UK engineering junior, was in "fair condition" at Good Samaritan Hospital Thursday following a near drowning accident at Castlewood Park swimming pool. Tuesday.

Kelly and three other companions had been practicing swimming under water. One of the companions said that they had been diving with face masks after breathing deeply. This enabled them to stay under water for approximately two minutes.

Kelly was found in the deep end of the pool, after companions began to worry about him when he had been under longer than two minutes.

The student said that he had started to the surface when he was knocked unconscious. Jim Crutcher, one of the three companions, investigated and saw Kelly's still body lying on the bottom of the pool. He then brought Kelly to the surface where lifeguards administered artificial respiration.

An ambulance was dispatched and arrived after Kelly had regained consciousness.

He was treated at Good Samaritan Hospital for possible chest cavity fractures and possible head injuries. A large bruise was found on his forehead.

Campus Calendar

The following calendar for special events is for the week of July 20 through July 23. All times are Central Standard Time.

Tuesday, July 20 — Movie: "Captain Blood," Amphitheatre, 7:45.

Wednesday, July 21 — Chamber Music Recital by the Music Faculty, MH, 7:00.

Thursday, July 22 — Outdoor Folk Dance, Women's Gym, 6:30.

Friday, July 23 — UK All-State High School Summer Orchestra, Memorial Coliseum, 7:00.

Coliseum Features Swimming Class

The beginner's swimming class at UK taught by Coach Alfred M. Reece, Physical Education instructor, is made up of 11 people. Three of them are faculty wives, Mrs. Crabb, Mrs. Bills, and Mrs. Gabbard, plus a few undergraduate and graduate students.

The class seems to have progressed rapidly since the beginning of summer school. They are doing the crawl stroke, side stroke, and wing stroke.

They meet four times a week for an hour each day. The class is not as large as the fall and winter classes which are limited to 30 people.

Also at the Coliseum this summer there are classes for YMCA children. Since the Y has no swimming pool, they come to the Coliseum on Tuesdays and Thursdays for classes. On Tuesdays the beginners swim and on Thursdays the more advanced classes are present. The University furnishes the teachers for these children.

Another feature of the pool which in this hot weather should be taken advantage of is the recreational period from 4:00 to 5:30 every day. It is open to anyone, including the faculty-staff and students.

Helen King Attends Alumni Council Meet

Miss Helen G. King, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, attended a national meeting of the American Alumni Council at Edgewater Park, Mississippi last Tuesday through Thursday.

She participated in two panel discussions. The first was entitled "Fortifying Our Outposts." It dealt with the value of good alumni clubs and how to attain and maintain them. The second discussion was "Local Alumni Club Problems."

Miss King will return to Lexington on Saturday.

Diane Hunt, UK Coed Named Miss Kentucky At Louisville Friday

DIANE HUNT — "MISS KENTUCKY"

Lexington Senior Was UK's 1954 May Day Queen

Miss Diane Hunt, UK education senior was chosen "Miss Kentucky" last Friday night in Louisville.

Diane, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, will represent the Bluegrass State in the "Miss America Contest" to be held at Atlantic City, N. J. in September.

The 21-year-old blond with greenish-blue eyes received a trophy and the traditional roses from last year's "Miss Kentucky," Miss Emily Rucker of Berea. She will also receive an expense-paid trip to the Miss America Contest and a commission as a Kentucky Colonel.

In spring of 1954, Diane was chosen UK May Day Queen. The contest was sponsored by Suky, University of Kentucky pep organization.

It is especially gratifying to the Kernel as it should be to the entire University of Kentucky that one of UK's co-eds be chosen to represent the state in the Miss America Contest. Also, one of the University's future co-eds, Miss Jo Anne Caudill, 18, of Louisville who recently won the "Miss Dixie" contest at Datona Beach, Florida took third place in the contest.

The Kernel congratulates Diane on her fine accomplishment and wishes her the very best of luck in the Miss America Contest in September.

Reporter Finds Heat, Work, Lack Of Girls Main Gripe

By DEE SHINNICK

With malice aforethought this reporter roved around campus asking the following question: "What do you dislike most about summer school?—No personalities please!" No student was encountered who had anything good to say about the heat, but here are some specific answers given.

Benedict Thomas, Education senior. "Professors who can't tell time. I think the people are more friendly in the summer, though."

Mary Pardue, Graduate student. "There are so many things I don't like, but the main one is the class length and the time classes start. It confuses me no end. I also don't like the heat and commuting. I guess I've just gotten too old to go to school."

Jim Sutherland, Commerce junior. "I just don't like school in general."

Fay Hotcomb, Education senior. "The heat. I think that Neville Hall should buy fans for the classrooms, and maybe other buildings should too. At least the professors could donate fans."

Cleon Wright, Graduate student. "There's too much work."

Charles H. Petras, A & S sophomore. "Not enough young girls. I can take a lot of punishment, but those girls would certainly brighten those stuffy rooms."

Mrs. Betty Nichol, Graduate student. "The steps to the Education library."

Dick Lehman, A & S freshman. "The heat is the only thing I don't like. Otherwise I think that the summer is better than the ordinary semester because the dorms are quieter for studying, and you get more individual attention in the smaller classes."

Jim Goodin, Engineering sophomore. "I just don't like school period, but I guess I'd rather do this than work."

Mrs. Betty B. Latimore, senior in Library Science. "I don't like professors who assign too much outside reading."

Joyce Stephens, Education senior. "Coming in at 11 o'clock on Friday night."

So you thought this question was ridiculous? If you think of a better one, why not send it to the Kernel office. We might even use it.

Services Held For UK Chief Electrician

Funeral services for Harold Edwin May, 32, chief electrician for the University, who was drowned Sunday in a boating accident on the Kentucky river, were held yesterday at Kerr Brothers Funeral Home. Burial was in the Lexington Cemetery.

The editorial staff of The Kernel will be glad to receive nominations for Colonel of the Week. Address suggestions to Editor, The Kernel, Campus Mail. Please state basis for your nominations.

Changes In Art Are On Display At Fine Arts

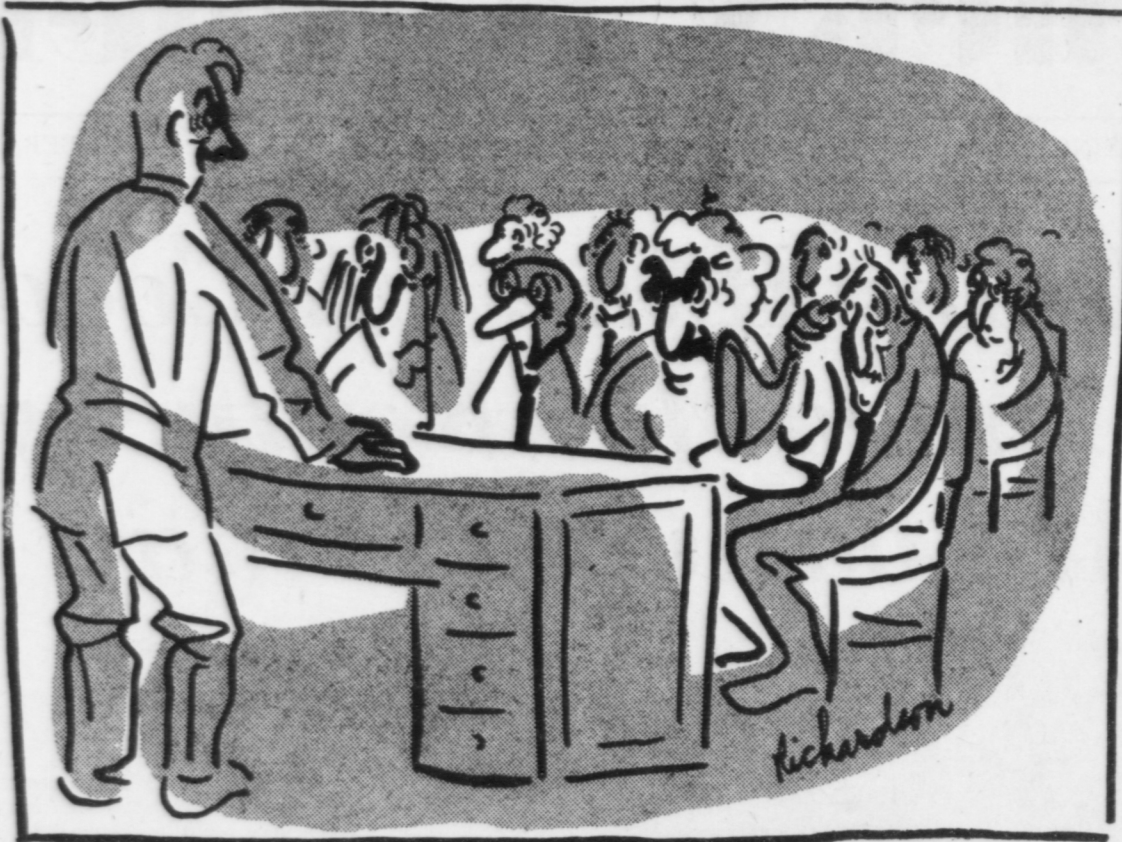

Color reproductions arranged to illustrate progressive changes in painting since the seventeenth century are on display on the second floor of the Fine Arts building.

Arranged in chronological order, they depict movement thru Impressionism to Cezanne's formal structure and the subjective expressionism of Van Gogh, ending in the 1906-15 period of violent Cubism and Fauvism.

The two art patterns continue into Formalism, Expressionism and Surrealism.

Ruben's "Farm," Corot's "Pont de Narni," Degas' "Ballet Dancers," Monet's "Dock of Argenteuil," Sou-tine's "Choir Boy," David's "Mme. Hamelin," Seurat's "Un Dimanche d'Ete . . ." and Picasso's "Girl Before a Mirror" are among the better known pictures being shown. All of the paintings are reproductions of masterpieces.

The exhibit is changed from time to time to keep the students familiar with the trends, past and present, of the art world.

"And in conclusion, I would like to welcome to the summer session, Mrs. Snodgrass, my eighth grade English teacher."

Completion Date Of Dorm Threatened By Local Strike

A local strike of plumbers and steamfitters may affect the completion date of the new men's dorm on Rose Street.

"The strike has been in effect since July 1, but hasn't really hurt production until this week," said Frank D. Peterson, University of Kentucky Comptroller. He added that the union is asking for a 15 cent per hour raise in pay.

The new dorm, which was scheduled to be finished by January of 1955, will house 366 boys. "Generally speaking there will be two boys to a room," said Peterson.

"The University has a ruling that all freshmen must live in the dorm," he continued, "so the dorm will be primarily for freshmen."

A cafeteria dining room which will serve 1200 people will be included in the new building. "That means that we could serve meals for all the men in the four other dorms," Peterson explained.

Furniture for the rooms has not yet been selected, nor has a name been given to the hall. The four-story building will have lounging and recreation rooms, and will have modern architecture. The architect is John F. Wilson.

The new dormitory will cost $1,711,000. It is being financed through a $1,400,000 loan from the federal government and an allocation of $311,000 by the Kentucky Property and Buildings Commission. Work was begun on it last April.

Moral And Spiritual Values Topic Of Education Dean

Several hundred Kentucky teachers and school administrators were told Monday at the University of Kentucky that the "strength of this country is in the minds and morals of its people."

The speaker was Dr. E. T. McSwain, dean of the School of Education at Northwestern University and the event for which he spoke was UK's fourth annual Summer Conference on Moral and Spiritual Values in Public Education.

"The real dangers to this country are those which exist under the skin," the Northwestern educator declared. "Remember also, that the content of language is likewise 'under the skin.'"

Dr. McSwain warned his audience against "guilt by association" and maintained that "freedom is from within." Formal topic of his address was "The I and You in Teaching Moral and Spiritual Values."

While commenting upon the implications of moral and spiritual values in education, the speaker explained that "morality is personal." He continued:

"Would that we as parents, teachers and administrators would so live that our children would come to see the value of being moral."

The speaker defined the purpose of an educational institution as a place which should "help an individual change himself 'under the skin.'"

COLONEL Of The Week

The Stirrup Cup, The Kernel, The City of Lexington, and the entire State of Kentucky take pleasure this week in saluting Miss Diane Hunt of Lexington.

Diane won the title of "Miss Kentucky" last Friday night in Louisville, and will represent Kentucky in the "Miss America Contest" in September.

If our memory serves us correctly, it has been many moons since a UK co-ed has taken the spotlight in the "Miss Kentucky" contest, and we are especially proud of Diane for bringing the honor to the University of Kentucky.

A senior in the College of Education, and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Diane came into focus just this spring when she was chosen UK's May Day Queen.

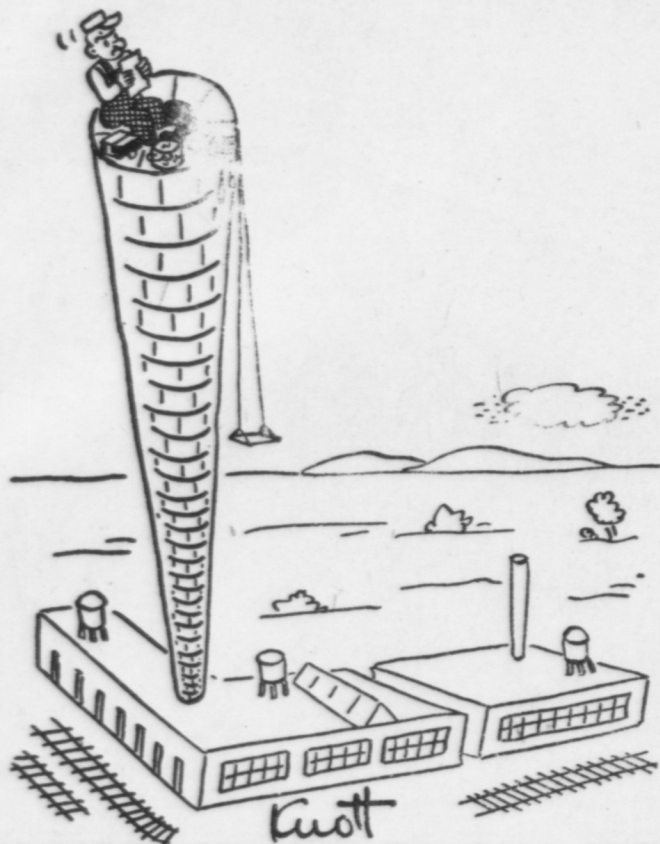

To Diane The Stirrup Cup extends the invitation to enjoy two of their delicious meals and will be looking forward in September to a Kentucky "Miss America."

UK Awarded Grant For Research

The University's Department of Bacteriology has been awarded a two-year, $28,000 contract by the U. S. Army to conduct special research in the identification of micro-organisms.

Announcement of the contract was made by Dr. R. H. Weaver, professor of bacteriology and director of the project, and Dr. Merl Baker, director of the Kentucky Research Foundation at UK.

The project will be administered by the Kentucky Research Foundation through the Department of Bacteriology. Formal confirmation of the grant was given by the Chemical Corps Biological Laboratories at Camp Detrick, Md.

The contract, described by Dr. Weaver, calls for research on the following problem:

"Development and Evaluation of Rapid Biochemical Techniques of Value in the Identification of Micro-Organisms."

Dr. Weaver pointed out that, in non-technical terms, this means that he and his assistants will attempt to develop new and faster procedures for recognizing organisms of microscopic size. He explained further:

"One important element in diagnostic work is time. Bacteriological work is of value to the physician only if organisms can be identified quickly enough to aid in his diagnosis."

"It is especially important to be able to determine the cause of an epidemic at the earliest possible moment. This constitutes a very important step in defense against possible biological warfare."

The ultimate aim of Dr. Weaver is the establishment of comparative values for various procedures and the preparation of a manual which may be useful in clinical and public health work.

According to Dr. Baker, this research grant marks the first contract received by the Kentucky Research Foundation from the Chemical Corps Biological Laboratories at Camp Detrick.

Business Management Group Will Hold Meeting July 26

The second annual College Business Management Institute will be held on the UK campus from July 26 to August 7.

The College Business Management Institute of the University of Kentucky is open to the business office personnel of all colleges and universities in the United States. It will further the education and training of business office personnel, and will help to standardize the various functions and procedures in college business management.

Among the lecturers for the institute will be Dr. Cecil C. Carpenter, dean of the College of Commerce; Dr. Frank D. Peterson, business manager and comptroller of UK; Dr. Frank G. Dickey, dean of the College of Education; Dr. R. W. Kettler, business manager and comptroller of Purdue University; Charles W. Hayes, Director of Purchases at Emory University; George E. Van Dyke, assistant comptroller of the Rockefeller Foundation; Kelly Thompson, director of public relations and assistant to the president of Western Kentucky; George R. Kavanaugh, business manager of Berea College, and Elgan Brooks Farris, chief engineer of the Division of Maintenance and Operations at UK.

"The meetings are open to summer school students who are interested in any phase of college business management or operation," Dr. Peterson said.

SUGGESTIONS FOR COOLING: Take heated body and lower into a ice cold bucket or tub of water. Keep in submerged condition for about two days and then consult paper for weather report. If there is no relief, repeat process for indefinite period . . . another remedy would be to dismiss classes for several days but this may not meet with the approval of faculty members . . . hop the first plane to Canada, grow a beard, speak to know one, denounce communism every time anybody comes into view, and drink refreshing pop-scotch . . . dig a very deep hole and then cover self up with loose bluegrass. Be careful not to associate with any china except French . . . jump out of an airplane at 20,000 feet and note cooling refreshing breezes. Process can only be attempted once, so make it a good one . . . be sure and tell everybody you see that this is the hottest day of the year or ask "is it hot enough for you?". As they start to slug you take notice that they are very hot under the collar. It will be a stimulant . . . wear a large woolen coat which will be insulating like a fur covered dog . . . go to the movies at noon and stay until late at night. Take picnic lunch so that the bad feature can be ignored after the second or third time around . . . sit on block of ice and surround self with fans. Bemoan the heat and wish at all times for winter.

Well, Diane Hunt who was overlooked on the campus until this year has been elected Miss Kentucky and this proud state has an excellent representative. We wish this modest and beautiful girl the best of luck in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City in September.

Plans Made For Economic Meet In 1955

A workshop has been planned for next June at the University of Kentucky for the purpose of teaching teachers their economic A.B.C.'s.

The Pendennis Club in Louisville was the meeting place of members of the newly formed Council on Economic Education. They met to discuss ways to boost education about economics.

The plan started in some 30 other states by the Joint Council on Economic Education was adopted by a group including Kentucky business, labor, and school leaders.

The joint council is a service agency organized by the Committee for Economic Development, a non-partisan, businessman's research group. The council is financed by the C.E.D. and Ford Foundation.

Floyd L. Fairman, Lexington, president of Kentucky Utilities, and Dr. Philip Davidson, president of the University of Louisville, are co-chairmen of the Kentucky Council.

By offering six-week summer workshops on the subject, the council idea is to improve the teaching of economics in public schools.

Businessmen, educators, labor-union officers, bankers, and merchants will instruct.

Field trips will be taken to business houses. The result hoped for is that teachers will in turn use examples in their communities to teach economics to students.

The dean of Eastern Kentucky State College, Dr. W. J. Moore, was named to head a committee to make arrangements for the workshop next summer. The University of Louisville, Eastern, and the University of Kentucky will sponsor it.

As a first step, several Kentucky teachers have recently attended or are attending workshops in other states this summer.

permit tired summer instructors to relax with their families and perhaps for the first time in history a science professor will play golf with a philosopher. Between them they should be able to figure out the mysteries of the game.

English professor Dr. Cooke, whose father was a diplomat, crossed the Atlantic 18 times before he was sixteen years old. This must have become as routine as sharpening a pencil.

E. A. Bureau Physics Prof. Dies Tuesday

Funeral services for Prof. Ernest A. Bureau, 68, who died Tuesday, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Milward Chapel with burial to follow in the Lexington Cemetery. The Rev. Gentry Shelton and the Rev. Leslie R. Smith will officiate.

Professor Bureau, a member of the University faculty since 1918, died at the Central Baptist hospital after an illness of a few weeks. He was head of the Electrical Engineering Department of the College of Engineering until his retirement on July 1, 1952.

Born in La Chapelle aux Noux, France, Professor Bureau was the son of Florent Joseph and Hortense Rivry Bureau. He came to America when he was four years old.

He was graduated with a Ph.B. degree from Ottawa University, Kansas, in 1906. He received his B.S. and E.E. degrees from Purdue University in 1915. Following his work at Purdue, he did advanced work at the California Institute of Technology.

Before joining the UK faculty, he taught physics in high schools in Wisconsin, Indiana and Kansas. After coming to UK, he was member of the University's Athletic Council for a number of years.

Prof. Bureau was a member of ETA, Kappa Nu, Tau Beta Pi and Sigma Xi. He was faculty advisor and a life member of A.I.E.E. and was a faculty member of Phi Sigma Kappa. He was listed in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in Science and was a faculty member of the Cosmopolitan club.

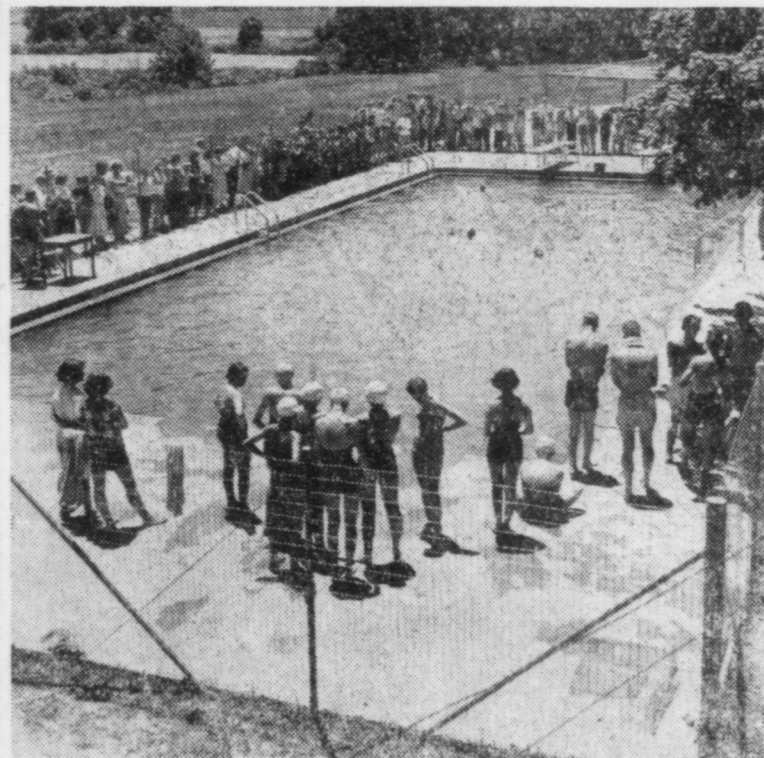

Prof. Bureau was a member of the Central Christian church, was senior elder of the church and once served as chairman of the board of elders. He was a member of the church choir.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Garni Moretti, Detroit, Mich., and Miss Jeanne Bureau, Lexington; two grandchildren, Haldan and Maura Moretti, Detroit, and a niece, Mrs. Earl Warren, Ventura, Calif.
